NIGHTY NIGHT

With the average Australian having well below the recommended eight hours of sleep each night, is it any wonder that almost a quarter of our population is experiencing fatigue or exhaustion? Insomniacs can finally snore a sigh of relief. Nightwave Sleep Assistant has hit our shores. Designed for people experiencing sleep loss due to a variety of factors, including anxiety, stress and jet lag, this non-invasive device encourages relaxation and sleep by helping the user slow down their breathing in time with its softly pulsating blue light. Small, portable and compact, Nightwave Sleep Assistant is the perfect bed buddy and travel companion. Nothing to snore about!

HAVE A LITTLE FAITH

There is not a single aspect of this piece that we are not coveting at the moment. From its linked 18 carat rose gold chain, the 50 carat white diamond detailing, right down to its 10 carat emerald base, it's all gorgeous. Sydney-based, Turkish-born designer Sunar Sayan strayed from his customary Ottoman Empire-inspired jewellery and embraced the architectural designs of medieval and gothic churches for this extravagant piece. Originally created for his friend's niece, the Key Of Faith signifies opening the door to faith and is the perfect statement piece for your décolletage.
